

"Veggie seed sales are up by double-digits at the nation's biggest seed sellers this year." -USA Today.com

Hard economic times are acting like instant fertilizer on an industry that had been growing slowly...home vegetable gardening.

What's more, the number of homes growing vegetables will jump more than 40% this year compared with just two years ago, projects the National Gardening Association, a non-profit organization for gardening education.

"As the economy goes down, food gardening goes up," says Bruce Butterfield, the groups research director. "We haven't seen this kind of spike in 30 years."

At W. atlee Burpee, the world's largest seed company, seed sales will jump 25% this year, Chairman George Ball estimates.

"After years of declining veggie seed sales, the whole cycle has completely reversed," says Renee Shephard, President – Renee's Garden.
